Oxford University Exploration Club
Hilary Week 2

Tues 24/01/23

Meeting Cancelled

Due to unfortunate scheduling conflicts, we will not have a meeting during week 2.

James Kempton's presentation of his initial reconnaissance expedition in Indonesia New Genea will now take place on 31/1/23.

In the summer of 2023 James Kempton, president of the OUEC, will be leading the Oxford University Expedition to the Cyclops Mountains of Indonesian New Guinea. In December of 2022, he spent 2 and a half weeks in Indonesia on a reconnaissance mission for the summer expedition. In the Week 3 Club meeting, James will report on his time in Indonesia, and he will speak about the importance of reconnaissance expeditions and how to plan them

Live Stream from PRÍNCIPE

The following week, we will have a live stream from an ongoing expedition by Carla V. Fuenteslópez to PRÍNCIPE on 7/2/23.

Carla V Fuenteslópez, former Exploration Club Chairwoman and our current Archivist & Secretary, is leading the Oxford University Expedition to Príncipe island.

This unique place might even be “the only country in the world where precisely no archaeological fieldwork has yet been carried out” (Mitchell and Lunn-Rockcliffe 2021).

The team - Bastiaan, Denise, Sophia & Carla - are conducting the first deep-time sediment coring on the island to understand the dynamics of environmental change on the island and the influence of human occupation, performing contemporary biodiversity surveys in marine & terrestrial ecosystems, and sharing the stories and experiences of Principe's people. The expedition will also be featured in a documentary.

Hilary Term

With Michaelmas Term's focus on grant applications, a common question has been “what will we do in Hilary Term?” Fear not! While we are still filling in the gaps, we have an exciting term card in the works. We will hear from those who have secured grant funding, members who have been on expeditions over the break, as well as those who are currently in the field, and have a variety of research and travel workshops! However, there is always room for more, so if you have an idea or would like to present your work, do let us know!

Call for Book Reviews!

Do you have a good book recommendation concerning exploration or your subject of interest? Let us know! Send a one-paragraph summary of the book and its importance to Michael Murphy at m.w.murphy2015@gmail.com . We will post the review on our social media, other members will know to look it up, and we may even add it to our new and growing OUEC Library!

OUEC Platforms

Finally, please find all of our social media platforms and website below. This is the most up-to-date listing.
