Oxford University Exploration Club Hilary Week 4

Tues 07/02/23

Week 4 Meeting: Carla V. Fuenteslópez Live Stream from PRÍNCIPE

Join us for a live stream from an ongoing expedition by Carla V. Fuenteslópez to PRÍNCIPE on 7/2/23.

Carla V Fuenteslópez, former Exploration Club Chairwoman and our current Archivist & Secretary, is leading the Oxford University Expedition to Príncipe island.

This unique place might even be “the only country in the world where precisely no archaeological fieldwork has yet been carried out” (Mitchell and Lunn-Rockliffe 2021).

The team - Bastiaan, Denise, Sophia & Carla - are conducting the first deep-time sediment coring on the island to understand the dynamics of environmental change on the island and the influence of human occupation, performing contemporary biodiversity surveys in marine & terrestrial ecosystems, and sharing the stories and experiences of Principe's people. The expedition will also be featured in a documentary.

The live stream is FREE and can be viewed online or in person!

Call for Book Reviews!

Do you have a good book recommendation concerning exploration or your subject of interest? Let us know! Send a one-paragraph summary of the book and its importance to Michael Murphy at m.w.murphy2015@gmail.com . We will post the review on our social media, other members will know to look it up, and we may even add it to our new and growing OUEC Library!

OUEC Platforms

Finally, please find all of our social media platforms and website below. This is the most up-to-date listing.
