Dear Explorers,

Week 4 Talk

Anthroposea Expedition: Exploring the Human Ocean

Next week, we are joined by three members from Oxford's own Anthroposea Expedition team! Michelle Sanders, Steph Barker and Sarah "Katie" Seaberg will be discussing their recent Anthroposea Expedition - the first ocean-going Oxford University expedition with an explicit marine social science focus.

Coinciding with the UN Decade for Ocean Science for Sustainable Development, the team set out for two weeks sailing the British coast to investigate human interactions with our oceans. Their talk will detail their adventure, plus give an insight to what Oxford University Expeditions can achieve!

Anthroposea Expedition: Exploring the Human Ocean

Date: Tuesday 8 February 2022

Venue: Platnauer Room, Brasenose College

Time: 19.30h

Coming up in week 5...

Introduction to Expedition Medicine Workshop

We look forward to seeing you next week!
