\(1\) Expedition Planning Evening Part I: Inspiration for expeditions, advice on planning, and learn how to acquire University funding

Ever wanted to study proboscis monkeys in Borneo, or sail the coast of Britain to research marine plastic pollution, or sledge across Spitsbergen in the Svalbard Archipelago? Well, these are all real examples of expeditions sponsored by Oxford University and undertaken by members of the Exploration Club. In our expedition planning evening part I, the Club welcomes Shane Winsor from the Royal Geographical Society, and Michelle Sanders, former leader of an OUEC expedition, to advise students in planning their own expeditions and securing funding from the University. ENTRY IS FREE TO ALL.

DATE: Tuesday 18th October, 19:30

LOCATION: Atmosphere Room, Oxford University Centre for the Environment. Map HERE

\(2\) Upcoming events

OUEC events take place at 7:30 pm on Tuesdays in the Oxford University Centre for the Environment Building off South Parks Road (location: <https://what3words.com/silks.swim.wash>), unless otherwise stated. Events are £5 for non-members and free for members, unless otherwise stated.

Week 3 (25/10/22) - Expedition planning evening part II

Need inspiration to form an expedition proposal? Gain rare access to the Club's physical archives to discover former Oxford University Expeditions. The Club has been running for 95 years and, in this Part II of the Expedition Planning Evening, you will have access to reports from expeditions undertaken during this entire 95 year span.

(3) Membership

For free entry to talks, the ability to apply to University funding for expeditions, and discounts on OUEC stash, consider becoming an OUEC member. Our current rates are:

Term - £10

Year - £20

Life - £35

The sign-up form for membership is here

I look forward to seeing many of you at this term's events.

James Kempton

Chairman of the OUEC
